

Conditions for granting credit:

- Timely submission of assignments during the semester (fortnightly period). The submission takes place in the form of an individual consultation, during which the student defends the correctness of the solution procedure used.
- A maximum of one unexcused absence during the semester. This also applies in the case of online teaching according to the faculty timetable.

Conditions for passing the exam:

- Credit awarded
- Obtaining the required number of points in the written examination. We assume a contact form of the exam even if the course is taught online.
